地域で基地フェンス貼り付け係の係員を表す discriminate the residents in the area. In fact, the location of the base is at the western end of the city, and it was also located near the city's border. In addition, the location was near the sea, and the beach was a popular tourist destination.

The situation was quite problematic, and there were a lot of public protests against the base. However, the government was determined to expand the base, and they didn't care about the protests. The military used a lot of force to suppress the protests, and people were injured and arrested. The government also stopped the protests by using propaganda and censorship.

Despite the protests, the base expansion continued, and the government was determined to expand it. The location was a strategic point, and it was important for the military. However, the people in the area were very unhappy with the base expansion, and they were against it. The government didn't care about the people's feelings, and they were determined to expand the base.